RICHMOND, June 9, 1875. Editors Dispatch: In your issue of today you give the derivation of "whiskey," and as coming from "usquebaugh" or "uisge." In that you may be right, but I find in "Notes and Queries," volume 12, page 114, that it is there claimed to have come from the Gae ic "ooshk-a pai," signifying water and life.

Is usquebaugh of Gselie parentage, and are they words of similar signification? B. [They are no doubt the same word. " Usque" means "water" and "baugh' means life.]

Daniel Webster on Sunday Schools. The friends of Sunday schools will be glad to read the following letter written by Daniel Webster to Professor Pease, the founder of the Five Points Mission Sunday school, which was read at a centennial celebration at Winthrop, Maine, some days since, by the Hon. S. P. Benson:

Marshfield, June 15, 1852.

Professor Pease: Dear Sir,-I have received your very able and interesting annual report of the condition of the New York Sabbath-School Association, and read it with great pleasure and instruction. It is gratifying, very gratifying, to learn that in a city where vice and immorality run riot with impunity a few humble Christians bave devoted their time and energies to the cause of religion; and I fervently pray that your labors may be crowned with success.

The Sabbath school is one of the great institutions of the day. It leads our youth in the path of truth and morality, and makes them good men and useful citizens. As a school of religious instruction it is of inestimable value. As a civil institution it is priceless. It has done more to preserve our liberties than grave state-men and areaed soldiers. Let it, then, be fostered and preserved in evil amusements instead of frequenting the house of prayer and praise." Could we go back to the early years of all bardened criminals, I believe, yes, firmly beliberality that he was denouncing reminded lieve, that their subsequent crimes might thus be traced back to the neglect of youth-

IN DEFENCE OF THE JAPANESE. - To the Editor of the Tribune : Sir, - In your this days newspaper I have been informed of which position a Japanese is holding under the New York laws, which is namely by your number, seven. "Who of them are white, who black, who mulatto, who Indian, who Chinese, who Japanese?" Because Japanese have in some extent been civilized with any foreign classes, it is better if you please, not to put him behind a negro which are invariably of servant class, an Indian of cruel, or a Chinese from whom our ancesters have beaten in the battle.
